DIARY NOTES

DD/S

7 June 1961

1. At the Deputies' Meeting this morning:

a. The Director expressed serious concern about our inability to prosecute Americans for crimes committed against the United States in a foreign country. At his request I have asked Larry Houston to prepare a factual statement of the law on this subject, as well as a historical summary of our efforts to get it changed.

b. We discussed the problem of getting more money from the Reserve to finance the WH/ operations for the remainder of this Fiscal Year. I reminded Dick Bissell and that this was an urgent problem and that I hoped they would come up with a paper upon which we could take action within the next few days.

c. It was decided not to have a Senior Staff Meeting during June. The next one will therefore be on 10 July.

2. Jim Garrison was up to clear his case for eighteen laborers at the new building. I told him that I was still not satisfied that he was going to do this work at a lower cost than that at the present. He took the paper back and will resubmit it after exploring this matter further.

3. At the Deputies' Meeting this morning:

a. There was considerable discussion of the activities of the President's Board of Advisors on Foreign Intelligence. The two questions which they have concerned themselves with at the moment are (a) Should the Director of Central Intelligence also be the Administrative Head of the Central Intelligence Agency or should he be some sort of supercoordinator on the President's Staff and be entirely separate from the Agency and (b) what should be the internal organization of CIA? It was pointed out to the Board that some of the items would require legislation and I have alerted Larry Houston to this possibility.

b. and his position in were discussed briefly. Apparently, he is not getting along at all well with either the Ambassador or the military people down there, and the Director believes that he has outlived his usefulness at that Station.

c. We also discussed the additional $600,000 needed for support of the [REDACTED]. The Director again expressed his reluctance to pay for this and asked Dick Bissell to study the matter further and come back with a specific recommendation.

4. I talked with John Tietjen, General Cabell, [REDACTED] Matt Baird, [REDACTED] and Emmett Echols about the application of [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] for entrance into the JOT Program. He did not meet our medical standards; however, we could make an exception to this. Further, he does not really meet our other JOT standards and has been requested to go to school for a year before attempting to enter the Program. General Cabell indicated that he would encourage young [REDACTED] to do this and might have a talk with his father also. We are generally agreed that we will not take him in the JOT Program at this time. However, if he doesn't pursue the additional education and wants a job now, we can enter him in some other part of the Agency in a less attractive job in the hope that later he may qualify for the JOT Program.
